Project title: "I am rocking you, my darling!"

Implementation location: The population of the village is around 1600 people and the proportion of Roma reaches 25-30 %, which is a significant Roma density in the village. Although Szomolya is located very near to Eger (the county seat of Heves county), it is only 15 kms away of it, as it is officially located on the periphery of Borsod county, circumstances of Roma community living here are very poor, disadvantaged.

Main goals: To improve the environment necessary for the successful development of children. To establish a club for local Roma parents where they can share their experience, knowledge regarding parenting and education and to provide different kinds of trainings, and other programs for children and parents to develop them in the needed competences.

Main target groups: Roma women aged between 17 and 28 (about 17-18), and children of them aged 0-8 (about 30-35).

Main activities: Training for parents about conscious parenting, care and education, play-house, development programs for children and family days for the wider community for their community development are organized by the project promoter which is a Roma led grass root NGO.

Main Results: Increased parenting efficiency, strengthened parent-child relationships, and an established self-help based parenting community are expected by the implementation of the project.
